HAPPY NOVEMBER!

Well, by now the semester is in full swing and it's hard to believe that Fall Recess is rapidly approaching! As the stress of midterms and projects linger, it's important that you take care of yourself and your physical and mental wellbeing. CSU offers many resources for students that are in need of assistance or any counseling services during this potentially stressful time. The CSU Health Network offers services that are included in your student fees which means you can access those resources at no extra cost. To schedule a counseling appointment, contact the CSU Health Network directly. If you are concerned about your own or someone else's mental health and safety, contact CSU service Tell Someone at 970-491-1350.

CAMPUS RESOURCE

YOU @ CSU

The CSU Health Network offers a great online resource called YOU@CSU, developed specifically for students to explore strengths and areas for growth across academic and future career matters, physical and mental health, and ways of engaging socially and with a purpose in community at CSU. YOU@CSU is "a path to self-exploration that connects you to personalized resources, whenever and wherever, to help you make the most of your college experience." Through YOU@CSU, you can take self-assessments that then personalize content, work to build mental health skills, and even set personal goals and check them off as you go. YOU@CSU is a great resource that provides options for you as a student to nurture self-awareness and take action before issues progress to more serious problems or crises. ## JOB OPPORTUNITY SPOTLIGHT: SCRIBEAMERICA MEDICAL SCRIBES

The role of a medical scribe offers exciting first-hand experience in the medical department and one-on-one shifts working with board certified physicians. The job offers opportunities for exposure to medicine, disease processes, medical decision making and procedures performed in the medical department. Physicians throughout Colorado and in Fort Collins are currently hiring students to work as their scribes. Medical scribes work one-on-one with board certified outpatient physicians helping to create the medical record for each patient evaluated by the doctor. Following a physician in an outpatient department setting is an exceptional opportunity for any student interested in medicine to gain first-hand experience. The chance to shadow a physician one-on-one provides valuable exposure to real medicine in action. Furthermore students are paid $10/hour. ScribeAmerica hires and trains anyone interested in a career in medicine. They provide paid classroom and clinical training in the medical department to prepare applicants to be medical scribes. Currently, ScribeAmerica is looking for motivated, loyal applicants with a passion for the medical field. Positions are part-time and scheduling is flexible.
